

CONTENTS

|                                                                                                                    |      |
|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|------|
| Foreword                                                                                                    | ix   |
| Contributors                                                                                                | xxix |
| Section 1: Teachers and Students                                                                        |      |
| Chapter 1                                                                                                   |      |
| On scoring competence                                                                                              | 3    |
| Magne V. Aarset &amp; Stig Ytterstad                                                                        |      |
| Chapter 2                                                                                                   |      |
| Initial teacher education: Teaching observation oral feedback practices in the United Arab Emirates                | 19   |
| Sarah Hyde                                                                                                  |      |
| Chapter 3                                                                                                   |      |
| Developing pre-service teachers' praxis through a culturally and linguistically immersive teaching experience      | 29   |
| Wendy Ruchti &amp; Cory A. Bennett                                                                          |      |
| Chapter 4                                                                                                   |      |
| The electronic gradebook alternative: The custom-made course administration spreadsheet                            | 43   |
| Brian G. Rubrecht                                                                                           |      |
| Chapter 5                                                                                                   |      |
| Enhanced conceptualization of learning algebra through scientific-oriented teaching                                | 54   |
| Natalia Karlsson &amp; Wiggo Kilborn                                                                        |      |
| Chapter 6                                                                                                   |      |
| Teachers' views on infusing indigenous knowledge into chemistry teaching at the junior secondary of Omusati region | 65   |
| Tomas Asino, Kgomotsego Samuel, &amp; Washington Dudu                                                       |      |
| Chapter 7                                                                                                   |      |
| Comparison of visual and phonological skills in dyslexia subtypes: Clinical and educational impacts                | 75   |
| Giseli Donadon Germano &amp; Simone Aparecida Capellini                                                     |      |
| Chapter 8                                                                                                   |      |
| Adapting to crisis: A case study in emergency online faculty development                                           | 86   |
| Ashley Salter &amp; Shelly Wyatt                                                                            |      |

|                                                                                                                                                    |     |
|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-----|
| Chapter 9                                                                                                                                   |     |
| Understanding of pre-service teachers' mathematical knowledge and perceptions of teaching                                                          | 97  |
| Natalia Karlsson &amp; Wiggo Kilborn                                                                                                        |     |
| Chapter 10                                                                                                                                  |     |
| Assessment of numerical cognition in Brazilian preschoolers - Elaboration and study pilot                                                          | 109 |
| Silvia Cristina de Freitas Feldberg, Rita dos Santos de Carvalho Picinini, &amp; Simone Aparecida Capellini                                 |     |
| Chapter 11                                                                                                                                  |     |
| Absence-presence in the production of 'green' schoolscapes                                                                                         | 129 |
| Tanaya Vyas &amp; Girish Dalvi                                                                                                              |     |
| Chapter 12                                                                                                                                  |     |
| A transformative instruction model and task-oriented learning                                                                                      | 138 |
| Natalia Karlsson &amp; Constanta Olteanu                                                                                                    |     |
| Chapter 13                                                                                                                                  |     |
| Psychosocial skills, emotional understanding and resilience related to attachment in young people                                                  | 151 |
| Eva Vancu                                                                                                                                   |     |
| Chapter 14                                                                                                                                  |     |
| Teachers' challenges navigating the provision of support to learners with special needs: Mainstream rural school perspective                       | 162 |
| Omphile Tshepo Cooperate Madiba &amp; Appolonia Masunungure                                                                                 |     |
| Chapter 15                                                                                                                                  |     |
| Teachers' attitudes in multicultural schools in Athens - A pilot study                                                                             | 173 |
| Kendra Macris &amp; Despina Paizi                                                                                                           |     |
| Chapter 16                                                                                                                                  |     |
| Reflections in acceleration: How GenAI technologies impact educational practice                                                                    | 191 |
| Stine Bylin Bundgaard, Susanne Dau, Camilla Gylendahl Jensen, &amp; Camilla Finsterbach Kaub                                                |     |
| Chapter 17                                                                                                                                  |     |
| Strategies for developing mathematics and science resilience in pre-service teachers to address maths and science anxiety in south African schools | 201 |
| Sakyiwaa Boateng                                                                                                                            |     |
| Chapter 18                                                                                                                                  |     |
| Leveraging ICT tools for teaching and learning in physical sciences                                                                                | 212 |
| Sam Ramaila                                                                                                                                 |     |

Section 2: Projects and Trends

Chapter 19

- Barriers to flipped classrooms in South African universities: Context and content challenges 235
Thuthukani Dlamini

Chapter 20

- What chatbot should support novice instructors in assisting students in PBL practice 246
Akiko Kai, Yuriko Ishida & Ryuichi Matsuba

Chapter 21

- Strengthening the university-company partnership - A collaborative design project 257
Xiaozhu Lin & Matteo Oreste Ingaramo

Chapter 22

- Digital and analogue gaming in the daily lives of people with intellectual disability - A Case Study in the Portuguese Context 267
Carla Sousa & José Carlos Neves

Chapter 23

- Ecodesign as an innovative approach to teaching in secondary schools 279
Tetjana Tomášková, Daniel Duda, Jan Krotký, & Jarmila Honzíkova

Chapter 24

- Online education in Latin American higher education: A systematic review 290
Salvador Antelmo Casanova Valencia, Arcadio González-Samaniego, Bertha Molina Quintana, & Rigoberto López Escalera

Chapter 25

- The importance of the role of professional socialization for educators as they encounter innovation in curricular and artificial intelligence technology 302
Ekaterina Kozina, Marie Hyland, & Catherine Comiskey

Chapter 26

- Views of learners on transforming schools into more inclusive spaces 313
Thabo Makhalemele, Rachel Rirhandzu Mayimele, & Pateka Pamella Jama

|                                                                                                                                           |     |
|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-----|
| Chapter 27                                                                                                                         |     |
| Personalizing learning through collaborative networks of knowledge                                                                        | 327 |
| Ralucca Gera, Mark Reith, D'Marie Bartolf, Simona Tick, Paolo Singh, Sean Mochocki, &amp; Akrati Saxena                            |     |
| Chapter 28                                                                                                                         |     |
| Fostering scientific thinking in primary students through investigative environment                                                       | 341 |
| Valentina Bologna &amp; Caterina Bembich                                                                                           |     |
| Chapter 29                                                                                                                         |     |
| Towards a framework to support novice teachers in rural areas: Implications for blended professional development initiatives              | 356 |
| Nomfundo K Radebe &amp; Emmanuel Mushayikwa                                                                                        |     |
| Chapter 30                                                                                                                         |     |
| Students' use of learning videos                                                                                                          | 371 |
| Bjarte Pollen, Joar Sande, Lars Kyte, Per Eilif Thorvaldsen, Sven-Olai Høyland, Erlend Raa Vågset, &amp; Marcin Fojcik             |     |
| Chapter 31                                                                                                                         |     |
| Innovative education and life cycle assessment of 3D printed products                                                                     | 384 |
| Tetjana Tomášková, Daniel Duda, Jan Krotký, &amp; Jarmila Honzíkova                                                                |     |
| Chapter 32                                                                                                                         |     |
| An Afrocentric approach to analysing literary text through African values in English first additional language                            | 394 |
| Thuthukani Dlamini &amp; Eugene Marais                                                                                             |     |
| Section 3: Teaching and Learning                                                                                                   |     |
| Chapter 33                                                                                                                         |     |
| Developing emotional literacy, support of emotion regulation and psychological resilience in the context of learning programs             | 409 |
| Eva Vancu                                                                                                                          |     |
| Chapter 34                                                                                                                         |     |
| How do students manage challenging study tasks? A thematic analysis of higher education students' (non-)strategic study-related behaviors | 421 |
| Diane Marcia Manuhuwa, Simone Hanegraaff, Johanna Schönrock-Adema, Sjoerd J. de Vries, Jan Willem de Graaf, &amp; Joke Fleer       |     |

|                                                                                                                                                     |     |
|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-----|
| Chapter 35                                                                                                                                   |     |
| The challenges of learning tasks from the perspective of children from marginalised Roma communities                                                | 439 |
| Mária Hušlová Orságová, Katarína Vančíková, &amp; Marián Trnka                                                                               |     |
| Chapter 36                                                                                                                                   |     |
| Understanding the learning space: A bibliometric analysis on blended learning in higher education                                                   | 450 |
| Thoko Poppy Mahlangu                                                                                                                         |     |
| Chapter 37                                                                                                                                   |     |
| Project-based teaching - Insights from development in teaching in construction management                                                           | 461 |
| John Lindgren &amp; Anna Isaksson                                                                                                            |     |
| Chapter 38                                                                                                                                   |     |
| Exploring the support needs of teachers in full-service schools to promote inclusion                                                                | 470 |
| Matabe Rosa Modiba &amp; Appolonia Masunungure                                                                                               |     |
| Chapter 39                                                                                                                                   |     |
| Screening for mathematical difficulties: Elaboration and pilot study                                                                                | 481 |
| Rita Picinini, Simone Aparecida Capellini, &amp; Giseli Donadon Germano                                                                      |     |
| Chapter 40                                                                                                                                   |     |
| Active learning methods in anatomy teaching for operating room nursing                                                                              | 489 |
| Lars Kyte, Grethe M. Dāvøy, Geir Egil Eide, &amp; Alisa Rysaeva                                                                              |     |
| Section 4: Organizational Issues                                                                                                             |     |
| Chapter 41                                                                                                                                   |     |
| Facilis Descensus Averno - Or effects of interactions between own PhD research project and other projects initiated within university        | 509 |
| Cezar Scarlat                                                                                                                                |     |
| Chapter 42                                                                                                                                   |     |
| Incrementa Atque Decrementa... Managing the university research centres along their lifecycle: Three cases and a common administrative issue | 527 |
| Cezar Scarlat                                                                                                                                |     |
| Author Index                                                                                                                                 | 543 |